Our Mission

AIDS Services Foundation will end the AIDS epidemic for men, women and children in Orange County through HIV prevention, linkage to care and treatment, while eliminating the stigma of AIDS.

Our Story

A small group of volunteers founded AIDS Services Foundation Orange County (ASF) in the late summer of 1985 because people were dying, had nowhere to turn and desperately needed help. ASF is now the largest and most comprehensive nonprofit HIV/AIDS service provider in Orange County, with a staff of committed and caring individuals, board of directors and hundreds of dedicated volunteers.

Each year, ASF helps more than 1,600 men, women and children, along with their families, who are either living with HIV or are impacted by HIV disease. Services include food, transportation, housing, case management, emergency financial assistance, children and family programs, Latino outreach programs, mental health counseling, support groups, HIV testing, and an extensive array of HIV prevention and education programs. We hope for a time when these services are no longer needed. Until then, we work hard each day to prevent the spread of HIV, and to ensure that everyone living with HIV and AIDS in Orange County has access to life-enhancing care and services.

Dear Friends,

I recently had the honor of attending the National HIV PrEP Summit (NHPS) that took place December 3–4, 2016 in San Francisco, California. It was a collaboration of health departments, national organizations, community-based organizations and the National Minority AIDS Council (NMAC) coming together over the course of 24 workshops and four plenary sessions to primarily discuss increasing accessibility of PrEP services for people of color, and building an infrastructure that supports biomedical HIV prevention. For those of you who may not know, PrEP stands for pre-exposure prophylaxis. Research has shown that PrEP is safe and effective in preventing HIV if the treatment is taken consistently.

At ASF, we want to focus our efforts on biomedical forms of HIV prevention in our local area. This is why we’ve opened up a Prevention Navigator role in our organization. Our PrEP Navigator Ryan Assaf, who joined our organization in January, is already doing amazing work determining specific HIV prevention needs for clients, developing a network of PrEP/PEP service providers and providing on-site HIV testing, among other duties.

Speaking of amazing work, I want to express my gratitude to our gala committee without whom the extreme success of this year’s “An Evening in Paris” event would not have been possible. We also extend our thanks to all who attended to celebrate the good work we are accomplishing and helped us to raise the funds to help us end the AIDS epidemic for men, women and children in Orange County.

During this past holiday season our Secret Angels Program was a huge success with approximately $6,850 dollars worth of toys, gift cards and boxes of diapers gifted to those in need. Thanks to you, those who depend on ASF as a resource were able to enjoy the holiday season even more due to your warm generosity.

Also of note, we have our 31st annual AIDS Walk Orange County and 5K Fun Run coming up soon, and there are several opportunities for you to participate. This year’s walk is set for May 6, 2017. All proceeds from this event will go toward supporting children, women and men affected by HIV/AIDS in the local Orange County area.

Finally, I would like to take this time to reflect on an invaluable member of ASF whom we lost over the holiday season, Martin Salas. Martin spent over 15 years educating and guiding others in the community. As director of HIV prevention and health education here at ASF, he showed true dedication to a cause near and dear to his heart. He had a passion for helping others and although he’s gone, he surely will not be forgotten. We will carry his legacy in our hearts and continue to work together in a way that honors him.

Thank you for walking alongside us in our journey and providing your continuous support. I look forward to seeing the miraculous unfolding of our efforts in the Orange County area just as much as I look forward to being right there with you working together.

Sincerely,

Philip Yaeger, Executive Director/CEO
Live music, dancing, mimes and magic. Premium open bars with four bartenders and a plated gourmet dinner. Auctions, games and prizes.

More than 350 attended ASF’s glamorous and fun-filled Parisian-themed gala on January 21 at AV, Irvine’s breathtaking, state-of-the-art entertainment venue. Titled “An Evening in Paris,” the foundation’s signature fundraiser raised nearly $400,000 through ticket sales and auctions.

“The gala was truly a night to remember — people danced and bid on auction items, ate amazing food and became better acquainted with each other and the services ASF provides,” said Executive Director and CEO Philip Yaeger. “And more importantly, the money that was raised will have a lasting impact on our community and change people’s lives for the better.”

Built upon the tremendous success of The Big Splash, which helped raise the money to start ASF in 1985 and continued as an annual event until 2009, “An Evening in Paris” celebrated the foundation’s anniversary with a night of dancing, exotic cocktails, delicious food, amazing live entertainment, and both a silent and live auction. This year, silent auction items included a 1960s American classic car rental in Palm Springs and a BBQ dinner for 20. Live auction items included a Kate Spade shopping experience, a nine-course dinner at Wilcox Manner for 12, a cooking class for 10 with Chef Debbie Maro of Wood Grill, and a completely customizable 5-day/4-night trip to Paris with business class seating on both flights.

“Our annual gala is not only an extremely fun event that celebrates our supporters, it is also an integral way the foundation raises the funds to end the AIDS epidemic for men, women and children in Orange County through HIV prevention and linkage to care and treatment,” said Yaeger. “Even though ASF has made great strides in Orange County’s battle against HIV and AIDS, we still have so much work to do.”

With about 7,000 people living with HIV in Orange County and an average of five new infections recorded each week, ASF has its work cut out; and money raised from events like the annual gala allow the foundation to continue its work in the community.

For 31 years, ASF has identified and broken many barriers that prevent individuals living with HIV and AIDS from accessing the lifesaving care they deserve, and with continued support, it can continue to do so until AIDS is finally eradicated.
Heroes for Zeros!

AIDS Walk Orange County is on a crusade to be a powerful force for change! We want to remind everyone that, in our community, our Heroes are Zeros! Zero new infections. Zero deaths. Zero discrimination. So don your cape, slide on that spandex and put on those boots. Our Heroes don’t fly, they WALK (or run!) to end HIV. The 31st AIDS Walk Orange County & Red Ribbon 5K Fun Run is “Heroes for Zeros!”

We’ll be running in our capes while creating a family-friendly day of fun, remembrance, unity and education at William R. Mason Regional Park in Irvine.

On Saturday, May 6, AIDS Walk expects over 1,000 walkers to join together to make new, positive memories with our “Heroes for Zero.” Our purpose behind this walk is to help people living with HIV disease in Orange County. The funds raised will be used to identify, through outreach and testing, those individuals infected with the virus, get them into care and on medication, reduce their viral loads and keep them healthy. And your help is critical to our success in accomplishing these goals.

There is no upfront cost to register and start or join a team. All we ask is that you commit to raising a minimum of $25. Of course, if you want to pay the $25 at registration and raise even more, that is welcomed wholeheartedly.

Our 31st AIDS Walk Steering Committee is working on lots of ideas to make this walk a success. You’re encouraged to break out your capes, spandex, boots or simply favorite super hero gear and walk the trails of the park in your best Heroes attire!

It won’t just be about fun, though. Remembering and honoring those we’ve lost is a major component of the AIDS Walk. We’re bringing back the blessing of the shoes and we’ll also have the Orange County AIDS Quilt at the grounds.

AIDS Services Foundation will be on hand to provide free, rapid HIV testing and counseling. Why not make it an annual tradition and get tested every year at AIDS Walk? The other recipient agencies will be on hand as well to provide information on the services they offer in the community.

So, visit aidswalkorangecounty.com today and register. Start a family team. Join up with members of your church and start a team. Or get your employer to start a corporate team. And, of course, you can walk as an individual, too.
With a new president sitting in the Oval Office, Americans wait with bated breath on the decisions and changes the new administration will make. According to a recent article in The New York Times, health experts and government officials have no idea what direction Trump and his team will take, but some fear that if the president follows through with his threats to cut foreign aid, it could mean a reduction in funding for HIV/AIDS prevention and treatment.

Now, more than ever, it is imperative to reduce the stigma of HIV/AIDS, remove barriers to accessing lifesaving treatments and educate providers on the implementation of biomedical HIV prevention.

From December 3–4, the first ever National HIV PrEP Summit (NHPS) was held in San Francisco, California, to bring together leaders from community-based organizations, health departments, national organizations and the National Minority AIDS Council (NMAC) to discuss and learn about pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) and other biomedical HIV prevention interventions, and to focus on the implementation and infrastructure needed to turn the promise of the science of PrEP into an effective community-level HIV prevention option for communities of color. ASF executive director and CEO Philip Yaeger attended the summit and walked away with a blueprint for HIV biomedical prevention that can be used in Orange County.

“There is so much uncertainty surrounding this new administration that PrEP implementation has become an urgent necessity,” said Yaeger. “We must bring the promise of biomedical prevention to all communities impacted by HIV and support the HIV community in overcoming any challenges and barriers that may arise due to the changing political climate.”

With 50,000 new HIV infections each year in the United States and no cure or vaccine available, prevention is key. The goal of PrEP is to prevent HIV infection from taking hold if you are exposed to the virus, and taking PrEP every day can do this. Several studies showed that the risk of getting HIV was up to 92 percent lower for those who took PrEP consistently than for those who didn’t take the medication.

As discussed at NHPS, in order to support the HIV community and effectively promote biomedical HIV prevention, we must tailor our efforts. These include clarifying our messaging and more clearly stating that PrEP is both highly safe and highly effective. We’ll work toward integrating HIV prevention into broader efforts to strengthen our communities and directly address provider attitudes around sexual behavior and concerns around sexually transmitted infections.

“People love to love, and that’s never going to change,” said Yaeger. “We need to educate our communities — including Orange County — about the simple and effective ways to stay safe, so that we can all love more freely.”
AIDS Services Foundation Orange County (ASF) is pleased to announce it has named Ryan Assaf its first Pre-exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) Navigator. In this role, Assaf will provide confidential assessment for both HIV positive and negative clients, including registration, PrEP education and linkage to a provider. He will also develop PrEP resources and a network of PrEP providers. In addition, Assaf will promote PrEP awareness and outreach to various community sites including the Orange County Needle Exchange, colleges, nightclubs and health fair events.

A medication approved by the FDA in 2012, when taken regularly, PrEP has been shown to prevent the HIV infection from taking hold if you are exposed to the virus. While several studies have shown PrEP’s effectiveness to be 92 percent or more with just four doses per week and up to 99 percent if taken seven days a week, usage and awareness remains low. Assaf’s role as ASF’s PrEP Navigator will increase awareness of the medicine and help put an end to the AIDS epidemic in Orange County.

Prior to accepting his new position at ASF, Assaf was an intern for Health Education and Prevention. He graduated from the University of California, Irvine, with a degree in public health sciences, where he was president of Public Health Brigades. Having traveled to other countries for previous roles, Assaf continues to remain involved in HIV prevention research in South Africa, which includes PrEP and anti-retroviral treatment adherence.

With 50,000 new HIV infections each year in the United States alone and no cure or vaccine available — prevention is key. ASF is delighted to welcome Assaf to his role as PrEP Navigator and looks forward to providing enhanced PrEP access to the community.

A Huge Step Toward Educating Our Communities on PrEP

This past holiday season AIDS Services Foundation Orange County facilitated the Secret Angels Children’s Holiday Gift Program. This program gave donors a chance to provide gifts anonymously for children in Orange County who have been affected by HIV/AIDS. ASF serves many clients who have children. Unfortunately, several of our clients are unable to provide gifts for their own children the way that they would like to around the holidays. What makes the Secret Angels Program so special is the fact that the parents are able to give the gifts directly to their own children. This makes it a much more personal gifting experience among families, and they truly appreciate our donors for allowing them to have such a special moment with their children. Thanks to the generosity of our donors, 72 families received gifts in December of 2016.

Those who donated had the option of gifting children and families with a gift card or a small toy. There were several ways that donors were able to make their contributions. There was the option of going online and purchasing gifts and gift cards directly from an ASF “TargetList” on the Target website. Some donors even mailed in their contributions to sponsor up to four children. Many of the families requested gift cards so that they could provide their children with some clothing and a small toy. The gift cards were valued at $50 per child. It warms our hearts here at ASF to know that 137 children, from newborns to 17 year olds, were able to open gifts this holiday season. Our generous donors gave approximately $6,850 worth of toys, gift cards and boxes of diapers to those in need.

It’s no secret that the holidays aren’t always a happy time for everyone, but with the Secret Angels Program it was much brighter for these children and their families. Although the children who received gifts didn’t see the part our secret angels had in making their holidays so special, their families have the utmost gratitude for you and what you’ve done. Thank you to every single person who gave.

Remembering Martin Salas: 1965–2016

Martin Salas, former ASF Director of HIV Prevention and Health Education, spent over 15 years dedicated to his mission — a mission that not only included education, instruction and collaboration but also mentorship, inspiration and guidance.

As the person responsible for developing ASF’s HIV prevention program curriculum, Martin created engaging and easy-to-understand science-based seminars and workshops in addition to providing individual education sessions for men and women living with HIV, as well as those at risk of contracting it. He worked tirelessly to ensure that ASF could continue to offer free, confidential HIV testing for the Orange County community, a goal that’s at the heart of ASF’s mission to stop the spread of HIV.

Martin also spearheaded Positively Speaking, a health education initiative that gives people affected by or living with HIV/AIDS a platform to speak openly to students, civic organizations, clubs or any other groups interested in learning more about how to stop the HIV/AIDS epidemic. Positively Speaking harnesses the power of personal, candid storytelling to help destigmatize the virus and successfully reaches over 3,000 people every year.

When Martin wasn’t creating new education programs or coordinating workshops, he was focused on building a meaningful relationship with the community he served. As a director and chair of both the Orange County HIV Prevention Planning Committee and the Orange County HIV Planning Council, Martin knew his role encompassed so much more than simply spreading knowledge.

He was a leader on both the local and national levels, but he was also a listener, counselor, cheerleader and — perhaps most importantly — a friend. The men and women who took part in Martin’s prevention programs didn’t just leave with a better understanding of HIV and its impact — they also left with a better understanding of how to navigate their own personal obstacles and challenges with strength and resilience.

The important work Martin did for ASF cannot be overstated. His work wasn’t just educational — it was empowering. Today and always, ASF honors Martin’s dedication and commitment to a cause and a community so much bigger than himself. We honor his service, heart, passion and the deep love he had for everyone he worked with over the course of his 15-plus years in the fight against HIV/AIDS.

Though Martin is no longer with us, his legacy lives on. ASF will continue Martin’s important work by remaining steadfast in its mission to educate the Orange County community about HIV prevention, and to support people affected by HIV and AIDS in living joyous, fulfilled lives.

The outstanding leadership and commitment of its generous supporters are essential aspects of ASF’s ability to help individuals living with HIV/AIDS. Major donors contribute $1,200 or more annually to ASF through both event and nonevent-related means. Many ASF donors give through member groups such as Patron’s Council, ASF’s major donor recognition society; Women’s Leadership Council; and the Getting to Zero Guild. Major donors are vital to the success of the agency, and ASF applauds their unwavering commitment to people living with HIV/AIDS in Orange County.
